RMLS™ CEO Moves to New Position In Charge Of Special Projects

Murphy Looks Forward To the Challenges and Opportunities of Her New Role

PORTLAND, Ore. – Effective January 1, 2010, Beth Murphy, CEO of Regional Multiple Listing Service (RMLS™) will take on a new role at RMLS™ in charge of special projects. This new position will allow the company to continue to draw upon the breadth of Beth's experience in the Multiple Listing Service (MLS) industry.

When Beth started working at RMLS™ as General Manager in 1994 the company's seven staff members served Realtors® in four counties in the greater Portland metro area. Beth was promoted to President and CEO in 1998 and today the company serves more than 20 counties in Oregon and Southwest Washington.

Beth is a graduate of San Jose State University in California and has been involved in the MLS industry for approximately 30 years. Before that she worked in marketing for a real estate firm. She has an in-depth knowledge of MLS systems and issues coupled with a great enthusiasm for working with brokers and agents.

A nationwide search for a new RMLS™ CEO begins October 1. For more information about the position please e-mail careers@rmls.com.
